JOINT SESSION

In accordance with joint resolution adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives, the Senate, at 11:30 o'clock a. m., proceeds in a body to the House of Representatives to hear the message of his Excellency, Governor Thomas W. Bickett, in regard to the revaluation of real and personal property, which he delivers in person to the joint session of the General Assembly, as follows:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

For many years the tax books of North Carolina presented comedies of error and tragedies of injustice. These unlovely exhibitions were not due to any vicious principle in our organic law, nor to any moral perversion of our people. The Constitution has always required property to be listed for taxation at its true value. The average citizen has always desired to speak the truth and to do equity. The errors and inequalities that have made our tax books look like the minutes of an Ananias Club were born of machinery acts utterly unsuited to modern conditions, and hopelessly inadequate to execute the virtuous wishes of the people as declared in the plain language of the Constitution.

This General Assembly, at the regular session of 1919, consecrated itself to the task of devising a machinery act that would find all the property in the State and determine its true value. I am grateful to report that this high purpose has been accomplished with remarkable completeness and precision. For the first time the citizen and the stranger within the gates may go to the tax books and find a fairly accurate inventory of the property of the State, and a fairly accurate appraisement of its value. In the new machinery act the people were for the first time seriously asked to tell the truth, and they have responded to this appeal in noble fashion. From every quarter of the State word has come that the people are happy to get away from the old system of concealments and evasions, and to let the exact truth about their property stand forth. No such august array of witnesses has ever been assembled as appeared in the high inquest that has just been completed. For in the diligent and devout search for the ultimate facts every property owner in the State was put upon the stand and solemnly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. The findings follow the testimony. The values fixed are the crystallization of the sworn evidence of all the people.

Taking the State as a whole, 75 per cent of the assessments were made at substantially the values sworn to by the owners of the property; 20 per cent were substantially increased, and 5 per cent were decreased.

The law gives to every property owner the right to appeal from the judgment of the county board to the State Tax Commission. The local authorities approximated true values so closely that not one person in a thousand appealed from their judgment. This is a record without parallel in the history of judicial tribunals. The real grievance voiced by a few people is not against the failure of the act, but is against its success.

The high objective of the act is to equalize the burdens of taxation and to wipe out discriminations. And just in proportion as true values have appeared on the tax books errors and inequalities have vanished. True values are always equal values, but neither wisdom nor virtue, nor principalities nor powers, nor length nor breadth, nor height nor depth, nor things present nor things to come, nor any other creature can equalize a kettle of lies.

Illustrations are always better than arguments. By their fruits ye shall know them. Therefore I give to you four typical illustrations of what has been done in every nook and corner of the State:

1. In one of our county-seats there lives upon the same street a lawyer and a widow. The lawyer owns a valuable piece of property in a desirable portion of the town, and this, under the old system, was assessed at $3,850. The widow had $10,000 that she had received from life insurance policies on her husband. This money was loaned on real estate mortgages which were listed for taxation at their par value of $10,000. Under the Revaluation Act the property of the lawyer was valued at $15,000, and he can get this amount of money for it any morning before breakfast. Under the old law the widow, in proportion to her real worth, was paying four times as much taxes as the lawyer. Under the new law this wickedness is wiped out, and both the lawyer and the widow are paying according to what they are really worth. The result is that the lawyer is cursing the Revaluation Act and swearing that he is going to repeal it, while the widow is praising God and the General Assembly of 1919 for its enactment.

Gentlemen, what are you going to do about it? Are you going to make the lawyer chuckle with satanic glee or strengthen the faith of the widow in God and in man?

2. In one of our Piedmont counties the experts of the Tax Commission examined two cotton mills. They found that one mill was on the tax books at 17 per cent of its real value, while the other mill was on the books at 65 per cent of its real value. Under the Revaluation Act this vicious inequality disappears. Both mills are placed on the books at their true value, and this year the 17 per cent mill will pay a great deal more taxes than it has heretofore paid, while the 65 per cent mill will pay a great deal less.

3. In a certain county, and in the same neighborhood, there lived two farmers, one on a twelve-acre, and the other on a fifty-acre, farm. Under the old law the twelve-acre farm was assessed at $600 and the fifty-acre farm likewise at $600. Now when these farmers received their questionnaires the twelve-acre farmer swore that his land was worth $650. The fifty-acre farmer swore that his land was worth $4,000. Under the Revaluation Act the two honest citizens, when they had an opportunity to do so, corrected a rank injustice.

4. In another county a man had a son and a daughter. In his will he stated that he desired to give them an equal amount of property. He had a farm which, in his will, he said was worth $10,000, and it is worth it. It will bring that amount on the market any morning. He gave this farm to his son, and then he gave to his daughter $10,000 in money. When the sheriff came around he collected from the daughter five times as much taxes as he did from the son. The daughter naturally complained about it, and asked the sheriff why she should have to pay five times as much taxes as her brother, when their father had given them, as stated in his will, exactly the same amount of property. The sheriff explained to her that the land was assessed at only $2,000, though he admitted that it was worth $10,000, while the money was assessed at $10,000, and that he (the sheriff) had no power to change it. The Revaluation Act does change it. It carries out the will of the dead father and makes the son and daughter equal before the law.

Inequalities like those just cited (and there are tens of thousands of them in the State) have been tolerated because they were not known. All that was necessary to kill them was to uncover them, and the Revaluation Act is exposing them in all their naked ugliness. Who wants to throw over these inequalities the mantle of an old machinery act that always went blind when the true value of property appeared?

HID TREASURES

The beloved and lamented John Charles McNeill, in one of his juiciest poems, writes:

*"I knowed a' ol' ooman wut scrubbed en hoed,
En never didn' go nowhar,
En when she died de people knowed
Dat she had supp'n hid 'bout dar."*

For some time there has been a growing suspicion that many men when the tax listers came around "had supp'n hid 'bout dar." One of the chief objectives of the new law was to uncover these hid treasures. There is no claim that in this respect the machinery of the act has functioned with perfect efficiency. What piece of machinery, mechanical or governmental, ever did perfect work the first time it was tried? For two years the Wright brothers tested their flying machine on Kill Devil Hill in this State. Compared with present-day performances it was crude work, but none the less it was a miracle, for they left the ground—they actually did fly, and the mighty airships of the present day are the logical development of their earnest endeavors.

And so, while the machinery of the Revaluation Act has not at its first trial uncovered all the property that has heretofore been kept off the tax books, what it has done in this respect constitutes a miraculous book of revelations.

ILLUSTRATIONS

In Mecklenburg County the total valuation of personal property in 1919 was fifteen million dollars; in 1920 it is forty millions—an increase of twenty-five million dollars.

In Gaston County the total valuation of personal property in 1919 was eight million dollars; in 1920 it is twenty-two millions—an increase of fourteen million dollars.

In Guilford County the total valuation of personal property in 1919 was twelve million dollars; in 1920 it is twenty-nine millions—an increase of seventeen million dollars.

In Durham County the total valuation of personal property in 1919 was twenty million dollars; in 1920 it is fifty-three millions—an increase of thirty-three million dollars.

In this county three corporations this year listed personal property to the amount of forty-two millions of dollars, a sum twice as much as the whole county listed two years ago.

In Forsyth County the total valuation of the personal property in 1919 was twenty-two millions of dollars; this year it sixty-seven millions—an increase of forty-five millions. In Forsyth County a single corporation this year listed personal property to the amount of forty-seven millions. Last year all the property listed in Forsyth County, real, personal, individual, and corporate, amounted to forty millions. It will be seen that this year a single corporation listed seven millions of dollars more in personal property than the whole county, including this corporation, listed last year.

The total personal property listed in the State in 1919 was four hundred and twenty-six million dollars; the total this year is eight hundred and thirteen millions—an increase of three hundred and eighty-seven millions.

The Revaluation Act also found and put on the tax books a large amount of solvent credits not heretofore listed. The solvent credits listed for taxation in 1919 amounted to ninety millions of dollars; in 1920, to two hundred and thirteen millions—an increase of one hundred and twenty-three millions.

The incomes listed for taxation in 1919 amounted to thirteen millions of dollars; in 1920, to thirty-three millions—an increase of twenty million dollars.

The machinery of the act also found and put on the tax books 1,034,790 acres of land not heretofore taxed. The average value per acre of land on the books this year is $40 per acre. This makes the new lands put upon the tax books worth forty-one million dollars. The average county in North Carolina contains 279,000 acres of land. It will be seen, therefore, that the Revaluation Act found and placed on the tax books of the State four counties of average size. It is plain that as a finder of the bacon the Revaluation Act is a remarkable success.

The total value of all real estate listed for taxation last year amounted to five hundred and six millions of dollars; the total value this year was one billion, nine hundred and eighty-one million dollars.

The total value of all corporate property listed in 1919 was two hundred and ninety-eight millions of dollars; the total value this year is six hundred and seventy-one millions—an increase of three hundred and seventy-three millions of dollars.

The value of the cotton mills listed in 1919 was fifty-eight million dollars; in 1920, two hundred and five millions.

The value of knitting mills listed in 1919 was seven million dollars; in 1920, nineteen millions.

The value of furniture and woodworks plants listed in 1919 was eight millions of dollars; in 1920, twenty-four millions.

The value of public-service companies listed in 1919 was one hundred and thirty-eight millions of dollars; in 1920, three hundred and fifteen millions.

An analysis of the values placed on real estate in some of the larger counties will be interesting.

For convenience, I give below a summary of the returns.

For purposes of a comparison this should be added to the amount actually on the tax books, making the personal property found this year amount to $914,000,000. It should be remembered also that the personal property is listed every year, and there is a gradual increase, while the real estate is listed only once in four years. The last year the real estate was listed the personal property amounted to $210,000,000 as against $914,000,000 this year. These are inspiring figures. To them every North Carolinian can point with pardonable pride. They demonstrate that North Carolina is per capita the very richest State in the South. When this Legislature adjourns we will have the lowest tax rate of any State in the American Union.

But it has been suggested that these are inflated values, that money is cheap and labor and property are high. To this criticism there are two answers:

1. While lands and houses and lots have, in a good many communities, sold at aerial figures, these fancy prices are not reflected on the tax books. The appraisers had before them the sworn testimony of all the property owners. They considered the number of witnesses, their character, their bias, their conduct under examination, and then reached their conclusions. Taken as a whole, tax values throughout the State are conservative values. The average value placed on land is only $40 per acre. Last year this land produced crops greater in value per acre than any other lands in the United States, according to Government reports.

I make this direct challenge to the critics of the act. For every piece of property that they show me that will sell for less than its tax value, I will show them one hundred pieces that will sell for more.

2. The cheap dollar that inflates the values of property is the same dollar with which we pay our taxes. We all readily understand when we sell our labor and products, and when we buy the necessities of life that the dollar we receive and the dollar we pay is relatively worth about forty cents. But when we go to pay our taxes we insist that a dollar is worth one hundred cents yesterday, today, and forever. Any material falling off in values can be taken care of by an amendment to the Revaluation Act providing that any property owner may have his property revalued by showing to the satisfaction of the authorities that its value has substantially decreased since May 1, 1919. I urge the adoption of such an amendment.

SAFEGUARDING THE FUTURE

In order to meet the fears of the timid—for I, myself, do not fear the people nor their representatives—I recommend that the present constitutional limitation of 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property be reduced to 15 cents. The limitation does not apply to tax levied for the support of the schools. The people of the State in ninety-nine counties have voted that the public schools must be maintained for six months, and that no constitutional limitation must stand in the way of this supreme mandate. The income tax amendment and the amendment reducing the limitation from 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ cents to 15 cents are to be treated as one. This amendment will bring to the State, by levying a graduated tax from 1 to 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent on all incomes, an additional revenue of two and a quarter millions of dollars. After going into the matter thoroughly, and considering every possible phase of the question, I am satisfied that the reduction to 15 cents is a wise and safe one.

The present income tax levied on earned income is graduated from 1 to 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. For the immediate future a similar graduated tax on unearned incomes would produce a revenue sufficient to enable the State to refrain from levying any tax on real and personal property for State purposes, and leave all this property to the counties and towns.

THE TEN PER CENT PLEDGE

The pledge made by this General Assembly not to collect from property this year an amount greater than 10 per cent in excess of what was collected last year was made in the utmost good faith, and I am sure there is no disposition on the part of any member of the General Assembly to ignore this binding contract made with the people. At one time it was hoped that the State would be able to get along without taking advantage of the 10 per cent increase allowed under the statute, but the costs of labor and material necessary for the operation of our State institutions have so tremendously increased since the General Assembly of 1919 made its appropriations that practically every one of these institutions faces a deficit. Moreover, the 10 per cent increase that would go for the maintenance of the public schools will not be sufficient to pay the increased salaries to which the teachers are so justly entitled. If the entire 10 per cent that goes to the State should not be needed, then it could well be used to make up the amount necessary to pay the teachers.

TOWNS AND CITIES

Some practical provision will also have to be made to meet the distressing conditions that confront the most of our cities and towns. Since the Revaluation Act was written, the cost of everything a city has to buy in order to maintain a decent city government, including wages and salaries, has greatly increased. It appears that a number of cities cannot live on the 10 per cent increase fixed by the act of 1919. I suggest that a bill be drawn providing that whenever the governing authorities of a city shall, by a unanimous vote, find as a fact that it is impossible for the city to maintain its government on the 10 per cent increase allowed by the act of 1919, they shall publish this fact, together with a statement of the actual increase of revenues necessary, and if within ten days after this publication, 10 per cent of the voters of the city shall ask for an election on the question, one shall be ordered to determine whether or not such increased taxes shall be levied. If such a petition shall not be filed, then the governing authorities shall be authorized to levy the taxes without an election.

THE TAX YEAR

The tax year ought to be the same as the calendar year. Such a year avoids confusion and makes for efficiency. It is practically impossible to do efficient work in getting property on the tax books when you do not begin the work until May 1. It is as plain as day that by requiring all property to be listed as of January 1, the State gets the benefit of many millions of dollars worth of property belonging to foreign corporations that is shipped out of the State between January and May. I am profoundly certain that the change is to the advantage of the agricultural interests of the State, that in the long run, it reduces their taxes.

This year we have not done a perfect job in respect to personal property, because of the colossal work that had to be done in the revaluation of the real estate. But the returns this year show that the change from May to January has operated to the benefit of the rural sections. There are in the State 411 distinctly rural townships—that is, townships in which there are no town lots. In these townships the personal property listed for taxation in 1919 amounted to sixty-six million dollars; in 1920, to eighty-nine millions—an increase of 33.7 per cent. As against this we have the showing of 130 distinctly urban townships, which in 1919 listed personal property for taxation to the amount of one hundred and twenty-nine million dollars, and in 1920 to the amount of two hundred and sixty-six million, showing an increase of 105 per cent of personal property listed in city townships as against 33.7 per cent listed in rural townships. I refer the General Assembly to the very able report of the Tax Commission that deals with this phase of the situation.

I know that there is considerable sentiment among the farmers in favor of the change from January to May. For this sentiment I have vast respect. It would be a personal joy to me to meet the views of the farmers on this question, but, gentlemen, we are here to serve, and I believe in doing the people good even though they stone me for doing so.

CONCLUSION

The Revaluation Act was not intended to cure all the tax evils to which the human race is heir. From the day that Augustus Caesar issued his immortal edict that the whole world should be taxed, all the nations of the earth have been wrestling with tax problems, and I doubt not that a thousand years from today the General Assembly of North Carolina will be exerting all its energies of mind and soul and body to devise a tax system that will provide adequate revenues to maintain a decent civilization and at the same time convince their constituents that the legislators are not a band of highwaymen bent on confiscating all the property of the people.

The Revaluation Act was designed to do three things

1. To make the tax books of North Carolina speak the truth.
2. To wipe out discriminations and inequalities between different classes of people and property; and
3. To find and place on the tax books property that has heretofore escaped taxation.

Gentlemen, the record is before you, and it demonstrates with the convincing certainty of mathematics that the first two objects have been attained with remarkable accuracy and completeness, and that while the third object has not been fully reached, we are traveling fast in that direction.

The Revaluation Act is not a perfect piece of machinery, but it is headed straight towards truth and justice—a Godly government in a goodly land. Egypt lies behind.

Gentlemen, I trust I do not unduly reverence the office I hold, but to me it is a sacred thing. It would be as impossible for me to stand in this high presence with deception on my lips or injustice in my heart as it would be for me to stand before the Great White Throne and lie to the Lord God Almighty.

On the hustings I am a robust partisan, but in this chamber and in the office down stairs, I am the representative of precisely one hundred per cent of the people of North Carolina. No man can read my inaugural address and my several messages to the General Assemblies and say that there is in any one of them trace or taint of partisanship. No member of the minority party can say that during these years he has ever been discriminated against by word or deed on account of his political affiliations.

I am deeply grateful that every big measure I have advocated has been supported with equal enthusiasm by Democrats and Republicans in the Legislature and out of it. In my resumes of the work of the General Assemblies of 1917 and 1919, I was careful to give to the representatives of the minority party full credit for their patriotic record in these halls.

I deeply regret that there is a disposition on the part of some people to drag this great reform, essentially nonpartisan and potent with blessings for all the people, down into the smoke and dust of a political campaign. Gentlemen, I beseech you, by the memories of a great record, to yield not to temptation. Last year you fought a good fight for truth and righteousness. This year keep the faith.

In the beginning, when the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep, God said, "Let there be light." The true valuation act is a conscientious effort to execute that high command. Let there be light! Let the white light of truth beat and blaze on the tax books of North Carolina, and in its shining presence no injustice will live.

*"The glory born of justice never dies,
Its flag is not half-masted in the skies."*

JOINT SESSION

In accordance with a joint resolution passed by the Senate and House of Representatives, the Chair appoints as a committee on the part of the Senate to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House of Representatives, Senators Ross and Gavin; after which the Senate proceeds in a body to the House of Representatives to hear the Governor's special message regarding the proposed ratification of the Federal Suffrage Amendment, which is as follows:

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I herewith transmit to you a copy of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, duly certified to my office by the Secretary of State of the United States.

From reports in the public press it seems that sentiment in the General Assembly is decided against the ratification of the amendment. With this sentiment I am in deepest sympathy, and for the gentlemen who entertain it I cherish the profoundest respect. But this does not lessen my obligation to lay before you a photographic copy of my mind on this important subject.

It is well known that I have never been impressed with the wisdom of, or the necessity for woman suffrage in North Carolina. There has never been laid before me evidence tending to show that the majority of the women of this State desire to go to the polls. I greatly fear that the women who do desire to go are unconsciously offering to barter a very precious birthright for a very sorry mess of pottage.

It has never occurred to me that women would hurt politics, but I have been profoundly disturbed about what politics might do to women. My attitude has been that of the western cow-boy to whom a woman suffragist said, "I want to be made equal to the men." The cow-boy lifted his sombrero, bowed low, and said, "And why does my lady wish to come down?"

Again, I have been fearful that the entrance of women into politics would have a very unfortunate effect on race relations in North Carolina. For thirty-five years after the Civil War all the political energies of our people were absorbed in the struggle to maintain in our borders a white government. For this we fought with our backs to the wall, because we believed such a government to be essential to the integrity of the white race, and the survival of a white civilization. The result was that during this long struggle the line of demarkation between the two political parties was largely one of color. Such a situation tended to dwarf the political development of our people. For twenty years we have been freed from this handicap, and under the new order both races have prospered as never before.

While there is still much room for improvement, I believe that today the relations between the races are more sympathetic in North Carolina than in any other State in the American Union. I greatly fear that woman suffrage would reopen these old questions, and force us to fight the battle for white government in North Carolina over again.

When I think of these things I am haunted by the lines of the Scotch bard:

*"But, Och! I backward cast my c'e,
On prospects drear,
An' forward, though I canna see,
I guess an' fear."*

No man in North Carolina sees more clearly the vexed problems woman suffrage is likely to bring upon us, and no man sympathizes more deeply with the feeling that exists in the State against making this experiment. I confess I am not impressed with the suggestion that the amendment would be an invasion of State's rights. North Carolina, and for that matter all the States are estopped from making any such contention. Recently Congress has enacted laws supported by nearly all the northern and western States that lay down the principle that the fishermen on Puget Sound have a right to say who shall work in the cotton fields and factories of North Carolina. Recently North Carolina, and nearly all the Southern States, voted practically without division in favor of the amendment to the Federal Constitution which lays down the principle that the cotton growers of North Carolina have the right to say that the farmer on the Pacific slope shall not gather grapes from his own vineyard, and out of them make a little wine for the use of his own family on his own table.

Always in Congress if a member wants to defeat a measure he raises the cry of States' rights, and the very next day the same member who is trying to pass some pet measure of his own treats with quiet scorn the cry of States' rights raised by the opposite.

Gentlemen, we may just as well realize that this country is no longer an association of States, but a Nation, and whatever a majority of the people of the Nation want is going to be the supreme law of the land. Whenever I really want to think seriously about State's rights I go and muse for an hour over the grave of my Confederate father, for I realize now more keenly than ever before that States' rights passed away with

*"The deadly calm of Stonewall's face;
The iron front of Lee."*

But, gentlemen, in the famous words of Grover Cleveland, "a condition, and not a theory, confronts us."

Woman suffrage is at hand. It is an absolute moral certainty that inside of six months some State will open the door and the women will enter the political forum. No great movement in all history has ever gone so near the top and then failed to go over. The very most that this General Assembly can do is to delay for six months a movement it is powerless to defeat.

This being true, I am profoundly convinced that it would be the part of wisdom and of grace for North Carolina to accept the inevitable and ratify the amendment.

In other days, when I was a private citizen in Louisburg, I would sometimes be sitting in a cozy corner of my porch, deeply engrossed in some tale of Dickens or Scott, when I would hear the front gate click, and looking up would see a lady coming up the walk. Now, while chivalry shrinks from it, candor forces the confession that I did not want her to come in. Just then I greatly preferred the society of Dickens or Scott. But there she was coming up the walk, and every instinct of southern chivalry forced me to walk down the steps, give her a glad hand, and say, "My dear Madam, walk right in: we are delighted to see you."

Gentlemen, the front gate has "clicked." The women are coming up the walk. They are going to enter our home. Shall we receive them with a smile, or a frown?

But there is another and a far deeper reason for not delaying the movement we are powerless to defeat. The big question that is going to be settled in the next six months in this Nation is whether or not the United States shall enter into an alliance with twenty-nine of the most powerful nations on the earth for the purpose of forever delivering humanity from the burdens and horrors of war. On that question the women have a sacred right to be heard, for when cannon roar the women furnish the fodder. With the utmost deference to all who may hold a contrary opinion, I am driven by the tyranny of my own conscience to say that judgment and justice, mercy and humanity all cry out that women have the first right to speak when the issue is whether or not the world shall henceforth be ruled by reason and righteousness, or by blood and iron.

Gentlemen, the wise man is he who gets the most and the best out of a given situation. If, in the face of this supreme crisis, we shall take council of our prejudice and our fears, and shall turn a deaf ear to the pleadings of humanity, next year we may be aroused to a tragic realization that in order to gain a local battle we have lost a world war.

Dear, dear friends of the opposition, I put to your sense and to your souls the question:

*“What win you if you gain the thing you seek?
 A dream, a breath of frothy fleeting joy;
 Who buys a moment's mirth to wail a week,
 Or sells eternity to get a toy!”*

The Senate returns to its chamber, where it reconvenes, and the Calendar is again resumed.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

"The laborer is worthy of his hire."

This divine law of compensation applies to those who labor for the State as well as those who labor for private individuals. The public servant is entitled to a living wage. In North Carolina he has not been receiving such wage during the last two years, but has been daily—

*"Doomed to that sorest task of man alive,
To make three guineas do the work of five."*

Such a policy is as unwise as it is unjust. It is simply impossible for a public servant to work with maximum efficiency when his mind is constantly disturbed and distressed by the struggle to "make buckle and tongue meet."

I believe in the most careful expenditure of the public funds. In public and in private life extravagance is folly, and waste is crime, but fair wages for honest work is the essence of economy.

Therefore, I make the following recommendations:

1. That the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds be authorized to equalize and adjust the wages of all janitors, watchmen and caretakers of public buildings and grounds, and allow such increases as may be found necessary and just: Provided, that the maximum wage paid shall not exceed $21.00 per week.

2. That the salary of the Keeper of Public Buildings and Grounds be increased from $100.00 per month to $150.00 per month.

3. That the Governor and Council of State be authorized to equalize and adjust the salaries of clerks and stenographers in the several State Departments, and allow such increase as may be necessary and just: Provided, the maximum salary allowed shall not exceed $150.00 per month.

I deem it my duty to the State to say that it is simply impossible to retain the present efficient clerks and stenographers unless this adjustment is authorized.

4. That the Committee on Salaries and Fees take under consideration the salaries paid clerks in the several departments whose present salary exceeds $150.00 per month and recommend such increase as they may find wise and just.

5. That the salaries of all the heads of the State Departments, Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Superior Court, the Adjutant General, and the Secretary of the State Board of Health be very substantially increased.

I speak with rigid accuracy and from a most intimate knowledge of the facts when I say it is simply impossible for these officials to live decently on the salaries they now receive.

The utmost candor compels me to add that while the salary of the Governor is certainly none too much, it is out of proportion to the salaries paid the other officials. The Governor can live on his salary, for, in addition to the money paid him, he is given a furnished house and supplied with water, fuel, lights and servants. A small increase in the allowance made for servants would be proper, but this is a detail that can well wait.

The items above named would more than absorb half the salary paid any regular State official.

I think the increase made in the salaries of the State officials should be made to begin December 30th, 1920, as the constitutional officers can receive no increase prior to that time.

I think that the increases allowed to clerks and stenographers should be made retroactive, and to begin January 1, 1920. The State is finding it increasingly difficult to retain in its employ efficient help, as private individuals and corporations are everywhere offering larger salaries than the State pays.

Respectfully,

T. W. BICKETT, Governor.

The message is referred to the Committee on Salaries and Fees.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

There never has been a time when I was not in favor of a workmen's compensation act. The human breakage in industrial plants should be as much a part of the fixed charges of the business as the mechanical breakage. This principle is now well-nigh universally recognized in all enlightened nations.

For a number of years the General Assemblies of North Carolina have accepted this fundamental principle. Several efforts have been made to pass a workmen's compensation act, but in every case the effort has failed because it was impossible to agree on the details of the bill. This failure was largely due to a lack of time during the session of the Assembly to investigate the facts and reach sound conclusions.

Therefore, I recommend that this General Assembly appoint a special commission, fairly representative of the workmen and the employers, whose duty it shall be to make a careful investigation of this question, and submit for the consideration of the General Assembly of 1921 a modern, model workmen's compensation act.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.

The message is referred to the Committee on Finance.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

This General Assembly at its regular session created a State Highway Commission.

By virtue of section 13 of chapter 189 of the Public Laws of 1919, I appointed the following members of the Highway Commission: Frank Page, chairman, for a term of six years; John E. Cameron for a term of four years; James K. Norfleet for a term of two years, and James G. Stikeleather for a term of two years. All of these appointments are subject to the confirmation of the Senate.

Allowing for the time necessarily consumed in perfecting an organization, the Commission has had about one year in which to function. During this time it has completed fifteen projects, comprising 73½ miles, at a cost of $769,297. It has now under construction fifty-seven projects, comprising 453 miles, that will cost $7,188,909. It has closed contracts for nine projects, comprising 69 miles, that will cost $749,102, making the total costs of projects completed, under construction, and under contract, $8,707,308. These projects cover eighty-eight counties in the State.

In addition to the projects above named, the Commission has approved and in process to be submitted to the Federal Government sixty-one other projects, and has also under consideration twenty others not yet approved by it. The total cost of all these projects will amount to $19,060,426. The total appropriation available from the Federal Government under any law is $6,270,690.

This leaves $12,789,736 to be raised by the State and the counties for the completion of the work already mapped out by the Highway Commission.

North Carolina was one of the first States to absorb every dollar in sight from the Federal Government, and is calling for more.

As I have repeatedly said, the blunder that we have made in North Carolina is not that we have failed to build good roads, but that we have been criminally negligent in keeping them up. I have a profound conviction that it would be an economic crime for North Carolina to issue bonds or permit a county to issue bonds to build any more roads in this State until we have devised and thoroughly tested out an adequate system of maintenance. Therefore, I recommend that this General Assembly authorize the State Highway Commission to test out, on a number of roads selected by the Commission, the best system of maintenance now in force in any of the states in the Union, and submit the result of their experiments to the General Assembly of 1921. I have a very definite conviction that the only system that will prove to be worth while is the one now in force in the State of New Hampshire and possibly in some other states, where the roads are laid off in sections and are kept under constant patrol just like the railroads are. It is simply throwing away money to build roads of any type until we provide and enforce a system of maintenance that will insure the roads from going to pieces.

T. W. BICKETT,

Governor.

This August 20, 1920.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

Last year I heard a negro bishop say in a public address that the negro had accepted the white man's God, and knew no other. We owe it to that God and to the civilization we have builded on His will to deal justly with a tribe of His children less fortunate than ourselves.

In North Carolina we have definitely decided that the happiness of both races requires that white government shall be supreme and unchallenged in our borders. Power is inseparably linked with responsibility, and when we deny to the negro any participation in the making of the laws we saddle upon ourselves a peculiar obligation to protect the negro in his life and property, and to help and encourage him in the pursuit of happiness.

In the discharge of this obligation the State owes it to the negro just now to provide:

1. For the establishment of a reformatory where delinquent negro boys may be sent and trained in the same way that the white boys are trained at the Stonewall Jackson Training School at Concord.

2. For the establishment of a sanatorium for the treatment of tubercular negroes. The negro is peculiarly susceptible to the ravages of this disease. A consideration of our own welfare, as well as that of the negro, requires the establishment of such an institution where those afflicted with the disease may be treated, and may also learn how to keep from giving the disease to others.

3. For the establishment of a strictly first-class teachers training school that will compare favorably with the teachers' training school for the whites at Greenville. Most of the negroes who qualify themselves for high-grade teachers go to schools outside of the State. This is unjust to them and is a blunder from the white man's standpoint. If the negro teachers are educated in the North, they will absorb the ideals of the North, some of which have a tendency to unfit them to be useful citizens of the South. If we teach them in our schools, they will absorb southern ideals, and will transmit these ideals to the youth who come under their charge.

4. For the amendment of our transportation laws that will secure to the negro safer and more sanitary accommodations when he rides on the trains. It is absolutely necessary to the peace and happiness of both races for whites and blacks to ride in separate cars. That question has been settled in the South, and no amount of agitation is going to disturb it. But we cannot get away from the simple justice that requires that when a negro pays the same money for his transportation that the white man pays, he is entitled to ride in a car just as safe and just as sanitary as the one the white man rides in.

To the end that these matters may be brought to the attention of the next General Assembly in an intelligent way, I recommend that this General Assembly appoint or authorize the Governor to appoint a commission of five members, whose duty it shall be to make a careful investigation and study of the several propositions above outlined, and submit their conclusions to the next session of the General Assembly.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.

This August 23, 1920.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:—I transmit to you herewith a communication just received from the Secretary of State vital to the work of his department. I personally know all about the situation in that department, and know that the additional help requested by the Secretary is absolutely necessary to carry on the work of the department.

A similar condition exists in the office of the Governor, the Treasurer, and the State Auditor. A very short bill has been introduced asking for specific increases in these departments. The total of these increases amounts to only $3,000. We simply cannot do efficient work in these departments unless these increases shall be allowed. This bill is radically different from the one upon which the House of Representatives has already acted unfavorably, as it applies to only about one-fourth as many parties as the former bill did, and brings down the increases to an irreducible minimum. I certainly hope this bill will pass.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.

This August 25, 1920.

APPENDIX

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

By Senator Thompson: S. R. 458, A resolution as to investigating pension bills:

Resolved, That the Committee on Pensions be instructed to investigate the bills sent to the Enrolling Clerk's office and report to the Senate the numbers of all private pension bills heretofore enacted into law at this Special Session.

By Senator Thompson: S. R. 212, A resolution providing for the appointment of a Special Calendar Committee:

Resolved, That the President of the Senate shall appoint a special committee to be composed of three Senators. Said committee shall examine all bills placed on the Calendar without reference to the proper committee, and shall endorse thereon the approval of said committee before said bills shall be passed on their second reading.

By Senator Warren: Substitute for S. R. 89, A resolution to postpone the consideration of the Nineteenth Amendment until the General Session of 1921:

Whereas the so-called Susan B. Anthony Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, being the proposed Nineteenth Amendment thereto, was by Congress submitted to the legislatures of the various states for ratification, subsequent to the general election of 1918, at which time this General Assembly was elected;

And whereas, at the time of the holding of the election of 1918, the electors of this and other states did not know, and had no reason to anticipate, that the said amendment would be submitted to the legislatures of the various states for ratification, and, therefore, had no opportunity of expressing their will and desire as to the ratification or rejection of the said amendment;

And whereas, in the opinion of the Senate, it is a cardinal principle of representative government that no change should be made in the fundamental law without a full knowledge and acquiescence of the electors therein, and without instructions received from the electors in regard thereto. Now, therefore, in consideration of the foregoing,

Be it resolved by the Senate, That the resolution of ratification of the proposed Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, being the resolution under consideration, be and the same is hereby postponed until the Regular Session of the General Assembly of 1921.

By Senator Holderness: S. R. 531, A resolution calling upon the Auditor to procure certain information in regard to pensions and to furnish same to the Senate of the General Assembly of 1921:

Resolved by the Senate:

First. That the Auditor of the State be requested to communicate with the pension boards of the various counties of this State in which reside the persons placed on the pension roll by the Regular and Special Session of this General Assembly, and procure from said boards the reasons why said persons were not placed upon the pension roll by the boards of said counties, and also the amount of property owned by said persons so placed on the pension roll.

Second. That the Auditor of the State transmit said information to the Senate of the General Assembly of 1921.

SIXTH MESSAGE
GOVERNOR T. W. BICKETT
TO
THE SPECIAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY
OF 1920

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

This General Assembly at its regular session created a State Highway Commission.

By virtue of section 13 of chapter 189 of the Public Laws of 1919, I appointed the following members of the Highway Commission: Frank Page, Chairman, for a term of six years; John E. Cameron for a term of four years; James K. Norfleet for a term of two years, and James G. Stikeleather for a term of two years. All of these appointments are subject to the confirmation of the Senate. Allowing for the time necessarily consumed in perfecting an organization, the commission has had about one year in which to function. During this time it has completed fifteen projects comprising 73½ miles at a cost of $769,297.00. It has now under construction fifty-seven projects comprising 453 miles that will cost $7,188,909.00. It has closed contracts for nine projects comprising 69 miles that will cost $749,102.00, making the total costs of projects completed, under construction and under contract of $8,707,308.00. These projects cover eighty-eight counties in the State.

In addition to the projects above named, the commission has approved and in progress to be submitted to the Federal Government sixty-one other projects, and also has under consideration twenty others not yet approved by it. The total cost of all these projects will amount to $19,060,426.00. The total appropriation available from the Federal Government under any law is $6,270,690.00. This leaves $12,789,736 to be raised by the State and the counties for the completion of the work already mapped out by the Highway Commission. North Carolina was one of the first states to absorb every dollar in sight from the Federal Government, and is calling for more.

As I have repeatedly said, the blunder that we have made in North Carolina is not that we have failed to build good roads, but that we have been criminally negligent in keeping them up. I have a profound conviction that it would be an economic crime for North Carolina to issue bonds or to permit a county to issue bonds to build any more roads in this State until we have devised and thoroughly tested out an adequate system of maintenance. Therefore I recommend that this General Assembly authorize the State Highway Commission to test out, on a number of roads selected by the Commission, the best systems of maintenance now in force in any of the States in the Union, and submit the result of their experiments to the General Assembly of 1921. I have a very definite conviction that the only system that will prove to be worth while is the one now in force in the State of New Hampshire and possibly in some other States where the roads are laid off in sections and are kept under constant patrol just like the railroads are. It is simply throwing away money to build roads of any type until we provide and enforce a system of maintenance that will insure the roads from going to pieces.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.

This August 20, 1920.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

The members of the Legislative Committee of the North Carolina State Board of Agriculture has made a profound study of the present taxation system in North Carolina, and has filed with me a report giving the result of their investigations. I am requested by the committee to submit this report to the General Assembly, and I send the same herewith.

The report is one of the most interesting papers ever written on this all important subject. It deals with the simple truth in a straightforward manner, and is the very essence of patriotism and statesmanship. I ask that the report be read in full to your body and that each member of the General Assembly give to it the most careful consideration.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.

This August 18, 1920.

A REPORT OF THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE OF THE NORTH CAROLINA
STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 18, 1920.

To the Farmers of North Carolina:

The members of the North Carolina State Board of Agriculture consider themselves commissioned to look out for the interests of the North Carolina farmers. We know the farmers of North Carolina well enough, however, to know that all they want is truth and justice and honesty. The North Carolina farmer wants no special favors, no special privileges. He asks only that he be fed out of the same spoon as other citizens. As he opposes giving special privileges to other classes, so he asks none for himself.

These reflections are impressed upon us as we consider the questions that come to us from many North Carolina farmers asking for the exact facts as to North Carolina's taxation policy with regard to its fairness and with regard to the effect upon the State's Agricultural interests. As members of the Legislative Committee of the North Carolina Board of Agriculture, the undersigned persons meeting in Raleigh and after earnest investigation of the facts, desire to submit their findings to their fellow farmers of the State. We present these facts we wish to say in the outset with no desire to favor any man or set of men, and with no desire to criticise any man or set of men. We are moved to speak only out of a desire to serve the cause of truth and to clarify a situation now much muddled through misconceptions and misunderstandings.

NORTH CAROLINA'S NEW TAXATION POLICY

After prolonged study and investigation, the General Assembly of North Carolina in 1919 decided on a new taxation policy for the State. This policy, we are glad to say, was approved by the representatives of both political parties, and appeals to us still as distinctly a moral issue, which should be above political consideration. This new taxation as worked out by both political parties in 1919 aimed at three things:

- (1) Honesty in assessments.
- (2) A reduction in tax rate to correspond to the increase in assessed values.
- (3) Provision for lightening the burdens of poverty and industry, and putting a larger share of the burdens of taxation on men with large incomes.

With regard to the latter point we may note in the outset that the last Legislature was the first one to take advantage of the authority given it by the Constitution to provide a $300 exemption for tax payers.

Now about the plans for securing just assessments. In the past everybody understood that he was permitted to list property for something less than its real value; and the result was that the more pliable a man's conscience, the lower the rate he named; and this thing has grown worse and worse year after year until it has amounted to a State disgrace. For a man to list his property at its real value meant that he would have to pay practically twice as much tax as he ought to pay. Such a system encouraged lying, and corrupted public morals at the fountain head. If the sworn officials of the State set the example of assessing real estate at $33\frac{1}{3}$ per cent of its value, how could the State expect the individual tax payer to list his personal property at 100 per cent.

All this has been changed. Hereafter every property owner in the State is expected to list every cent's worth of property he owns—and list it at 100 per cent of its value; list it for what it would bring if offered for sale under favorable conditions.

Of course if this plan for revaluing property for taxation were offered without assurance that the tax rate would be correspondingly cut it would largely fail. The law specifically provides, however, that as assessed values increase, the tax rate must decrease, and the present General Assembly proposes to reduce the maximum constitutional rate on each \$100 worth of property from $66\frac{2}{3}$ cents to 15 cents.

THE PROPOSED INCOME TAX AMENDMENT

Now with regard for provision for throwing a larger part of the burden of taxation on those most able to bear it. The chief purpose for the revaluation policy is not to increase the amount of taxes, but to secure justice and equality in assessment. Then in order to provide larger revenues for the State and give us the necessary money for the many important tasks which advanced civilization places on the commonwealth—better schools, better roads, better health, better care of the unfortunate, etc.—the Legislature submits to the people another important plan. At the election in November, the people will vote on a constitutional amendment authorizing the State to tax the income of the wealthy, without regard as to whether any particular income is derived from invested wealth or otherwise.

We hope every farmer will now make up his mind to vote for this amendment and urge others to do so. Heretofore we have had a shameful system in North Carolina. Incomes derived from labor have been taxable, while incomes derived from invested capital has been exempt from taxation, under constitutional provisions. Thus it is said that a famous tobacco manufacturer of this State had an income of a million dollars a year from his property, and was not required to pay one cent of income tax on it, while his stenographer or clerk getting $1,250 a year or more was required to pay an income tax. In England for years it has been the plan to put a heavier tax on "unearned incomes," that is to say on those derived from invested capital, than on "earned incomes" that is to say, on those derived from one's labor or profession. Our North Carolina plan has been on the other extreme, and the voters of the State ought to pile up 100,000 majority for changing it, just as they did for changing the Constitution so as to provide a six-months school term.

A great part of the State's wealth is concentrated in the hands of a comparatively few wealthy persons, and it is only fair that they bear a larger share of the burdens of taxation. This is all the proposed income tax amendment means.

THE RESULTS OF THE NEW TAX POLICY

Such in brief was the State's new taxation policy as approved by representatives of both political parties in the General Assembly of 1919. What have been the results? We are profoundly convinced, after a careful study of the question that this new policy has worked out in a way to deserve the sympathy and support of the farmers of North Carolina. Of course, the plan has had its faults, its weaknesses, its imperfections. Of course, some mistakes have been made. Of course, we should try to remedy any weak places in the act. But on the whole we are convinced that the majority of the farmers of North Carolina feel as did one farmer speaking bluntly in the presence of some of the signers below since our committee met in Raleigh, when he said:

"The new tax act would be worth all the effort that has been put into it if it did nothing else except keep a hundred thousand North Carolinians from swearing to lies every tax-listing day. I thank God for an act which enables me to sign my tax-sheet with a clear conscience, knowing that I am compelled to tell the truth and that my neighbors are also."

We believe that the great majority of the farmers of North Carolina feel as this man did. They want to know first: "Is all property getting on the books at its fair value? Are the tax books telling the truth? Is each class of property honestly listed?"

If each class of property is honestly listed then it doesn't matter whether real estate or personal property or corporations show the greatest gain in values. As a matter of fact, however, we find that there is no reason whatever for charging that the new taxation policy will throw a largely increased burden on the farmer. Here are the facts:

THE VALUATION OF REAL ESTATE

First. As to the valuation of real estate. Any thoughtful man who wishes to deal honestly is bound to know that in making any comparison of gains in real estate values with other property values, it is absurd to use only the years 1919 and 1920.

Prior to 1919, real estate was last assessed in 1915. Any so-called "1919 valuations" for real estate is therefore a fiction and an absurdity. There is absolutely "no such animal." There is no 1919 valuation; there is only a 1915 valuation which was carried over in 1916, again in 1917, again in 1918, and again in 1919. Every other class of property got part of its increased assessment in 1916, part in 1917, part in 1918, part in 1919.

Real estate gets all of its increase at once in 1920 and naturally its five-year increase now is more than the one-year increase on other property. Any man might have expected this. To discover whether or not real estate is being advanced in values out of proportion to other property there is only one fair thing to do. For real estate we are compelled to compare 1920 values with 1915 values of each important class of property in the State. Here are the figures as gathered from the records of the State Road Commission:

Real Property	$1,981,569,494	$421,988,072
Personal Property	813,532,925	210,744,789
Cotton Mills	205,581,304	26,457,002
Banks	35,247,693	23,748,446
Corporation Excess	20,832,385	7,005,821
Power Companies	56,484,094	10,544,239
Railroads	250,587,158	125,836,005
Miscellaneous Corp.	168,795,120	43,415,547

From this record it appears that values on each class of property here named have increased about as follows:

Real Property	Nearly 5 times.
Personal Property	Nearly 4 times.
Cotton Mills	Nearly 8 times.
Banks	About 50 per cent.
Corporation Excess	Nearly 3 times.
Power Companies	Over 5 times.
Railroads	Doubled.
Miscellaneous Corp.	Nearly 4 times.

Some classes of property have increased more than real property, other classes less. But for the new $300 exemption, personal property would undoubtedly have increased as much or more than real estate. On the whole the increases are about what might have been expected, and indicate fair dealing, so far as we can see it. Cotton mills, as everybody knows, have been abnormally prosperous, and they lead in increase. Real estate values, as any honest man is bound to admit, have increased tremendously, both town lots and farm lands. An average valuation of $40 per acre for all the farm lands of the State, which is all the new assessment provides, is not excessive. As for the two classes of property which do not show large increases, it is well known that railroads the country over have been in disastrous condition, and that banks have their property in money, and money is the one thing that has grown cheaper these last four years. To make the matter still clearer, let us divide the various classes of property into four great groups and compare the increases on each.

	1920	1915
1. Real Property	$1,981,563,494	$421,988,072
2. Personal Property	813,552,925	210,744,789
3. Railroads	250,587,158	125,836,005
4. Corporation Property, including banks, cotton mills, and power companies	486,587,596	113,904,316

The increase in each class of property by percentages is then seen to be as follows: Real property 369 per cent; personal property, after the $300 exemptions, 286 per cent; railroads 99 per cent; corporations 329 per cent.

WILL THE FARMER'S BURDEN BE INCREASED?

In the face of these facts, we cannot convince ourselves that real estate has been unfairly dealt with. The situation in a nutshell so far as the new tax law and the farmer is concerned seems to be as follows:

(1) The farmer's personal property hereafter will be more lightly taxed than ever before—because for the first time other property will be listed as completely and at as nearly full value as this property has been up to this time.

(2) Even without the new constitutional amendment to tax all incomes alike, the average farmer's real estate would bear only a slightly larger part of the general tax burden than in the last assessment year.

(3) With the adoption of the new constitutional amendment to tax all large incomes, a large share of the taxes of the State will come from industries in which large wealth is concentrated as it is not in agriculture, and the farmer's general tax-burden will be correspondingly reduced.

THE TAXATION OF CORPORATIONS

Concerning the much-discussed matter of the taxation of corporations in North Carolina we find the following to be the facts: Every corporation is required to list for taxation under oath every item of property real or personal it owns, and to pay taxes on every such item of real or personal property in exactly the same way and to exactly the same degree and amount as if such property were owned by an individual citizen of the State. Then in addition to this each such corporation is required to report to the State Tax Commission how much money it is making, how much dividends it is paying, etc. The State Tax Commission then estimates how much the corporation is worth as a going concern in excess of the property it owns and pays taxes on. The corporation is then required also to pay tax on a valuation which includes this estimated value on "good will" or intangible property as well as on all its actual property. This explains the term "corporation excess." The theory of the State has been that the corporation itself thus pays taxes for all its shareholders and that they receive "dividends less taxes paid" and that to tax a corporation on its property and then tax each owner of stock for his share of the corporation's property would be like taxing a man on his land, and then taxing him on the deed to that land.

Such is a rather comprehensive review of the taxation situation in North Carolina as we find it. Our review is necessarily rather lengthy because we have wished to answer with both fairness and fullness the questions about which our farmers are asking for information.

SOME NEEDED AMENDMENTS

Our general conclusion is that the State is to be congratulated on having worked out for the first time a system of taxation scientific and honest in principle. We trust that we shall hold to that principle and change the system only by improving the details. Speaking only for ourselves in this as well as other matters mentioned, we believe the following improvements should now be made:

1. Adequate provision should be made for revising any and all assessments which can be shown to be higher than the real value of the property on May 1, 1919.

2. A determined and thorough going effort should be made to compel the listing of solvent credits and of all other forms of personal property. The farmer is willing to list all his property; he demands that all other property be listed.

3. In spite of efforts to equalize the situation for the farmer by allowing him to deduct his debts on January 1, from valuation of crops then on hand, we nevertheless believe it best to change the date for tax-listing back to May 1, or at least to April 1.

4. We renew the appeal, already sufficiently elaborated in this statement, for the ratification of the Income Tax Amendment at the coming November election.

Respectfully submitted,

H. W. SCOTT,

C. C. WRIGHT,

I. N. PAINE,

R. L. WOODARD,
